WHERE EVERY STEP BEGINS

"Every flawless move is born from countless unseen rehearsals."

Empty Pages

Sometimes Empty pages express stories, hours of sitting it carries, no curve, no ink, not even a line- yet they whisper the thoughts that were once mine.

They wait for the courage I'm trying to find, for the scattered pieces of my restless mind, A quiet space where feelings hide, A mirror of the emptiness I keep inside.

But someday the ink will learn to flow. From trembling hands that finally know- that even emptiness can slowly begin, to shape a story from deep within.
