THE EDITOR SPEAKS

It gives me immense pride and pleasure to present to you this special edition dedicated to Rajkumar College Model United Nations 2026 that transformed classrooms into arenas of diplomacy, ideas into action, and students into global thinkers. Through these pages, we attempt to encapsulate the vibrant energy, thoughtful discourse, and collective enthusiasm that marked this event.

Over the course of two days and 11 different committees, delegates engaged in substantive debate, explored real world challenges and worked towards solutions that emphasised diplomacy over discord. RKC MUN was more than a simulation; it was an experience that encouraged participants to think critically, communicate effectively, and appreciate diverse perspectives. It echoed the values we strive to uphold leadership, responsibility, open-mindedness, and the courage to voice ideas.

As you read on, I hope you see RKC MUN not just as an event, but as an experience that shapes perspectives and inspires change. May it continue to evolve as a platform where voices are heard, ideas are challenged, and futures are imagined.

On behalf of the editorial team, I extend sincere appreciation to every individual who contributed, organizers, executive board members, and delegates alike. It is your passion and commitment that made this conference not just successful, but truly meaningful.

Providing vision and direction to nurture leaders of substance and global perspective

MESSAGE BY THE CHAIRMAN, MANAGING COMMITTEE RAJKUMAR COLLEGE, RAIPUR (C.G.)

The enduring legacy of Rajkumar College Raipur has, over the years, been defined not merely by its history, but by its steadfast commitment to shaping individuals of character, intellect and purpose. As one reflects upon the institution's journey, it becomes evident that its true strength lies in its ability to harmonise tradition with progress, nurturing young minds who are as grounded in values as they are prepared for the challenges of an ever-evolving world. Rajkumar College has consistently upheld an educational philosophy that transcends the confines of the classroom. It seeks to cultivate in its students a spirit of inquiry, a sense of responsibility and the confidence to lead with integrity. Whether through academic pursuits, co-curricular engagements or student-led initiatives such as the recently concluded RKC Model United Nations 2026, the emphasis remains on fostering holistic development and meaningful participation. □

It is particularly heartening to witness students embracing opportunities with initiative and maturity, reflecting the values that RKC has long sought to instil. Such moments reaffirm the belief that the legacy of the institution is not confined to its past achievements, but lives on through the actions and aspirations of its students. □

As RKC moves forward, it does so with quiet confidence, anchored in its rich heritage, yet ever responsive to the demands of the present. It remains committed to nurturing individuals who will carry its values into the wider world, upholding its traditions while shaping the future with wisdom and integrity. □

A Vision That Inspires Leadership

ADDRESS BY THE CHIEF GUEST

It gives me great pleasure to be here with the young delegates, speaking to you, learning from your experiences, listening to yours. The point of the order today is the big debate on the United Nations, whether it is fulfilling its role or not, whether we can expect something from it or not, whether its individual agencies are doing the work properly or not.

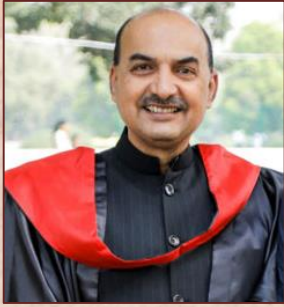

The United Nations is a product of an era which saw two world wars. But the question is, is the UN still working appropriately and effectively? Some may argue it is, given that there hasn't been a third world war yet, however the absence of proof does not mean that it is not necessarily true. The absence of a third world war does not mean that the United Nations, is performing well. If you are abreast with the latest developments, you would have noticed there are countries which refuse to be drawn in into the conflict which was not a case earlier during World War I and World War II, when a singular attack cascaded into multiple countries trying to assert their own positions of influence and power. Here comes up the question of UN's relevance. It makes one think, if you can't even make a decent show out of your 'toothless tiger,' may be the tiger shouldn't exist. Currently, United Nations is debating the digital divide and the mental health of young adults – important issues but are they relevant now? Debating the right issue at the wrong time is also not sensible. What can we expect from an institution so old, it is basically like a prehistoric monster – remember, one system has to go if a better one has to come. The question that remains is this - do you think the global order today justifies the need for a new body, a new international organisation, more developed than this relic called the United Nations. That is something for you to ponder on, discuss and decide. I wish you all the very best, for this celebration – the RKC MUN.

Charting the Path of Young Diplomacy

PRINCIPAL'S ADDRESS

It gives me immense pride and pleasure to present RKC MUN 2026, a remarkable initiative that truly reflects the spirit, vision, and capability of our students at Rajkumar College, Raipur. What makes this conference especially noteworthy is that it is entirely student-driven. From conceptualization to execution, our students have demonstrated exceptional organisational acumen, leadership, and a deep sense of responsibility. Their ability to plan, coordinate, and deliver an event of such scale stands as a testament to their dedication and maturity. At RKC, we have always believed that education extends far beyond textbooks and classrooms. While academic excellence forms the foundation, it is equally important to nurture skills that prepare students for the complexities of the real world. RKC MUN embodies this philosophy—offering a dynamic platform where students engage in diplomacy, critical thinking, public speaking, and meaningful debate. Through this experience, our young delegates do not merely simulate global discussions; they learn to listen, negotiate, collaborate, and lead with empathy and conviction. These are the qualities that shape responsible global citizens and future leaders. I commend each student involved in RKC MUN 2026 for their passion, perseverance, and professionalism. You have set a benchmark for excellence and have proven that, when given the opportunity, students can achieve extraordinary outcomes. I also extend my sincere appreciation to the Management for their continued support and encouragement in this endeavour, as well as to the faculty members and mentors who have guided and supported this initiative, ensuring that the students' vision translates into reality. As we celebrate RKC MUN 2026, let us continue to foster an environment where ideas flourish, voices are heard, and leadership is cultivated.

A Legacy of Leadership

ADDRESS BY THE VICE PRINCIPAL

The conference witnessed the participation of approximately 350 delegates across 11 committees, including distinguished international bodies such as the United Nations General Assembly and the Security Council, thereby creating a vibrant forum for dialogue and critical engagement. A particularly noteworthy feature of this conference was that it was entirely envisioned and administered by the students. From the design of committee frameworks to the coordination of logistics and proceedings, the student organisers displayed remarkable initiative, efficiency and cohesion. Their ability to translate planning into seamless execution spoke volumes about their organisational capabilities and commitment. □ Delegates engaged with contemporary global issues with seriousness and insight, demonstrating commendable skills in research, articulation and consensus-building. □

While the students led from the forefront, the role of the faculty in guiding and supporting this endeavour was invaluable. Their mentorship, encouragement and behind-the-scenes efforts ensured the smooth and successful conduct of the event. The institution places on record its sincere appreciation for their unwavering support. □

Beyond the formal proceedings, the RKC MUN 2026 served as a meaningful exercise in confidence-building, collaboration and global awareness. It reinforced the importance of initiative and responsibility, leaving participants better equipped to navigate complex ideas and perspectives.

Shaping Voices, Guiding Global Perspectives

FROM THE CHIEF COORDINATOR & FACULTY ADVISOR

RKC MUN 2026 marks a significant moment for Rajkumar College, a celebration of young minds brought to life entirely through the initiative and dedication of our students. It stands as a compelling reflection of the academic depth and intellectual vitality that the institution seeks to cultivate, where learning is not confined to theory but expressed through engagement, inquiry and action. Bringing together a wide spectrum of committees, from global forums such as the United Nations General Assembly and Security Council to uniquely curated simulations like the Lok Sabha, International Press and creative assemblies, this platform offered students an opportunity to engage with ideas in a manner that is both rigorous and relevant. The diversity of agendas encouraged participants to move beyond surface-level understanding and immerse themselves in issues that demand nuance, sensitivity and critical thought.

It has been inspiring to witness the sincerity and passion with which students have conceptualised every aspect of the conference, creating an environment where participants were challenged to think critically, articulate with clarity, and collaborate meaningfully. Moreover, the commitment displayed by the organising team, along with the enthusiasm and engagement of the delegates, strengthened the intellectual tone and direction of the event.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to the Principal, the management and the faculty for their support and contributions, which have been instrumental in enabling this initiative to take shape and flourish. RKC MUN 2026 celebrates student leadership, collaboration and the courage to undertake something new with confidence and purpose. It is deeply gratifying to see young minds rise to this occasion with such sincerity, carrying forward the values that define Rajkumar College.
